

9 Aug 2015

Updating Frameworks & Time management

As I mentioned in my 8 Aug 2015 post, I was going to produce a presentation showing how Dr de Bono's CoRT (Cognitive Research Trust) approach supports Time Management principles (or not, as the case may be). I have now uploaded this presentation but I still need to add more audio content. But first things first. I am following the principle of 'publish and be damned' as I believe in and know what I am doing.

As I also mentioned I will be using the work of Immanuel Kant (the 18th Century German philosopher) called the 'Critique of Pure Reason' https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Critique_of_Pure_Reason as the basis of my dissertation.

My presentation can be viewed at www.ripose.com/kant. I have also included 5 other frameworks for your consideration.

I have also updated my Frameworks presentation by dividing the original web page into 2 separate slide shows. One dealing with TOGAF and Zachman and the other with CoRT and IE. This presentation can be viewed at www.ripose.com/fw

Thank you for your patience and perseverance.

Charles Richter

Principal information architect
Ripose Pty Limited